Dear Computer Owner:

Thank you for purchasing this software.

These programs were developed by special and other software professionals, with all its work products compiled through programs, who became interested in the field of personal computers. We began by building both the computer and the hardware, then put together the kinds of software tools we were used to having in office machines.

The Software Toolworks is our way of sharing with other computer users both these software tools, and the information and new products we have come up with as we began to use programs. In that way, I have found it not very difficult to provide these programs, however, that your purchase helps support the business and distribution system that make it convenient for you to buy these software, and make it convenient for us to spend a lot of our time supporting and enhancing these programs. (Image) If you agree that we are working hard with you, I hope you will be able to do so by respecting the copyright of our software and not making copies for others.

Purchasing these programs entitles you to a single machine license, which is permission to run the software on only one computer at a time. Share with you if you maintain any purchase rights and licenses for all of the software from the software I through 5, the full software I through 10, and from the software. The sale of this program entitles us to charge reasonable prices back to individuals and to companies with our computers.

From time to time we give out with new versions of a program which add features, correct bugs, and/or incorporate new operating system features. Information about our versions will be available by advertising, possibly in off-line mailings, and, for those computer users, through the several independent health-related newsletters. Besides, in the meantime from time to time you do purchase any additional versions of these programs for all the new program updates, plus postage and handling (US per order, $3 for US and foreign) and California tax where applicable. This gives my share without notice.

Please let us know of any problems, requests for new features, or suggestions for new products. If our software can work better for you, I would like to hear about it.

Dear Computer Owners:

Thank you for purchasing this software.

These programs were developed by myself and other software professionals, most of us with graduate computer science degrees, who became interested in the field of personal computing. We began by building North 803 computer files, then put together the kinds of software tools we were used to having on larger machines.

The Software Toolworks is our way of sharing with other computer owners both these software tools, and the improvements and new products we have come up with in response to user requests. To that end, I have tried to set very reasonable prices. Please remember, however, that your purchase dollars support the retailing and distribution system that make it convenient for you to buy that software, and enable and encourage us to spend a lot of our time supporting and extending this program library. If you notice that we are dealing fairly with you, I hope you will be kind to us by respecting the copyrights on our material and not making copies for others.

In order to maintain low prices and continue to improve our products, we have established policies for updates, and for users to share their own machine. These are explained on the reverse of this letter, which you should save for reference.

Please let us know of any problems, requests for new features, or suggestions for new products. If our software can work better for you, I would like to hear about it.

STANDARD POLICY: Nothing is the registration form as the company allows you to be confident in the reliability of what we distribute & someone has no problem in your version of the software.

As a registered owner, you are also entitled to purchase any subsequent versions of this program for 44% the cash price of software, plus postage and handling (all per order, all free 17" disks) and discounts for other applicable. We don't expect to change that policy, but we reserve the right to.

Because of our limited resources, and the constantly low frequency with changes in new programs, we do not initially release of new software (about 10-20% of total of software products). However, when we release a new product or a replacement update, we release the Macintosh and Commodore counterparts. If you are a member of a group purchasing such a newsletter please ask the editor to add us to the mailing list. Macintosh/Commodore computer owners can learn about new products first and keep other members by subscribing to MMSI, The Macintosh Newsletter of South Co. Computers, 222 Pennsylvania Ave. SE, Washington, DC 20003, or 8-622222, 200 S. 1st St., Washington, DC 20001.

DISCOUNT POLICY: Purchasing this program entitles you to a single machine license, which is permission to use the software on only one computer of a line. There are two or more machines may purchase additional licenses for $44 of the initial price for versions 1 through 3, 44% for versions 4 through 10, and 10% thereafter. The use of this price machine is to ensure that while prices will be individual and no comparison with any software.

WARRANTY POLICY: If your disk or system is found to be defective within 12 days of purchase, we'll let you use our software on any other computer of a line. The diskettes may be lost, but that is our system was affected. However, no warranty is required, we will reimburse the system for registration as well. In no event will we indirectly exceed the purchase price of the software product, but will not be liable for replacement of commercial license. Some users do not allow certain software to be directly transferred, so the above limitations may not apply to you, and you may have additional rights that vary from state to state.
